

Capital Equity Markets Anti-Money Laundering (AML) Policy

Capital Equity Markets is dedicated to preventing money laundering and actively supports global efforts to combat financial crime. We strictly adhere to the regulations and guidelines established by the Joint Money Laundering Steering Group (JMLSG) and other international bodies committed to combating money laundering and terrorist financing.

Our Anti-Money Laundering Measures

To ensure compliance and maintain the integrity of our financial operations, Capital Equity Markets implements the following measures:

- Requiring clients to provide valid proof of identification.
- Maintaining detailed records of client identification information.
- Screening clients against lists of known or suspected terrorists to ensure they are not engaged in terrorism-related activities.
- Notifying clients that the information they provide may be used to verify their identity.
- Closely monitoring clients' financial transactions.

- Prohibiting the acceptance of:
 - Cash
 - Money orders
 - Third-party transactions
 - Transfers via exchange houses
 - Western Union or similar services

Stages of Money Laundering

1. Placement:
Illicit cash or cash equivalents are introduced into the financial system.
2. Layering:
The funds are moved through multiple accounts to obscure their origin. This often involves complex sequences of financial transactions, including low-risk trading activities.
3. Integration:
Laundered funds are reintroduced into the economy, appearing as legitimate money. This may include closing trading accounts and transferring funds to bank accounts.

Capital Equity Markets recognizes that trading accounts can be exploited for laundering funds or concealing true ownership. To counter this risk, all fund withdrawals are directed back to their original source of remittance as a preventative safeguard.

Compliance and Enforcement

The international anti-money laundering framework mandates financial institutions to:

- Be vigilant about potential abuse of customer accounts.
- Implement robust compliance programs to detect, deter, and report suspicious activities.

These measures are designed to protect both Capital Equity Markets and its clients from the risks associated with money laundering.
